Teaching
Strategies
&
Innovation

For me as an English lecturer that I consider the classroom as an emotional place in which students can be excited during studying, feel pride and hope for success. Therefore I use different innovative teaching methods, strategies and techniques to enhance their academic standard and achieve well. I use such methods which include Eclectic, Communicative and Constructivism Approaches with collaborative and cooperative work techniques with audio and video materials for in-class and online.

- I do daily review for my students, can strengthen previous learning and can lead to fluent recall.
- I present small new materials at any time, especially medical terminologies and different cases. But in the Applied Community Services College, I try to give them a short topic about Jazan culture and explain it in simple so as to satisfy their needs and levels.
- I ask questions because they help students practice new information and connect new materials to their prior learning.
- I provide students with models and worked examples can help them solve problems. I distribute sheets and try to discuss each one in small groups.
- I spend more time guiding my students and I always try to be a facilitator and helper.
- I check their understanding at each point during and after the lesson. This strategy helps my students learn the material with fewer errors.
- I involve them to achieve a high success during my classroom.
- I support them and am near each one as friends and assist them to get from the difficulties.
- I have them to be independent learners.
- Mainly to be a facilitator and trainer
- Weekly and monthly extensive practice and review.
- Love is very important in all time.
